Best Practice would be for hall hirers to provide food allergen information for all food prepared onsite or even offsite for consumption or sale in the Village Hall. Examples of best practice:

- Putting up signage requesting people to ask for allergen information
- Clearly displaying allergen information on any menus
- Creating a recipe card showing all known allergens in your food items.

More information and guidance can be found on Food allergy and intolerance | Food Standards Agency and in the following document Allergen information for loose foods.
